Fibersol®-2...it's the fiber you want...only 1.6 Calories!

Why? Based on scientific conclusions from examining all the human energy studies, Fibersol-2 has been shown to contain fewer calories than maltodextrin. The fiber portion (90% of Fibersol-2) provides only 1.4 kcal/gram.

Fibersol®-2, the premier slow fermentation soluble dietary fiber, has also been shown in clinical studies to help support intestinal health. When formulating products for digestive health it is critical to meet consumers' need for a great tasting product while using ingredients that are easy to use and well tolerated.

Applications for Fibersol-2 are nearly limitless, including beverages, processed foods, dairy products, baked goods and snacks, confections, dietetic foods and supplements.

Fibersol®-2 is tasteless, improves body/texture and offers masking properties. It is also high soluble, provides a clear and transparent solution, acid and heat stability, very low viscosity, is water binding and has very low hygroscopicity.

Invented by Japan's Matsutani Chemical Industry Co., Ltd., Fibersol®-2 has been exclusively produced by ADM since 1999. This joint venture combines Matsutani's strong technical and scientific expertise with ADM's vast production facilities and transportation network, resulting in a quality food ingredient that is backed by highly consistent service and a readily available supply.
